Freelance Healthcare & Business Writers

Description

LaingBuisson's well-read business news journals Care Markets, Healthcare Markets and Healthcare Markets international are interested in meeting freelance writers and journalists with experience of writing on the healthcare sector.

LaingBuissons' news publications cover a wide range of sub-sectors within the business environments of independent social care and acute care, from reporting on political and legislative change to analysing end-of-year accounts to interviewing CEOs and COOs of the major market players.

If you could be a valuable addition to our team of writers please contact us with samples of your work and to request a sample copy of our titles.
